

(ANTI)RACISM & PEDAGOGY

A Conference convened by the Hawke Research Institute and Yunggoorendi First Nations Centre for Higher Education and Research

This conference reflects on the pedagogical challenges presented by 'new forms' of racism that are distorting our societies. The papers and the discussion will be providing new theorizations of racism and proposing pedagogical tactics as a skilful response.

December 5th, 2008

Amy Wheaton Building, Magill Campus of the University of South Australia.

- 9.00 Opening, Welcome to Country
9.20 Thinking Beyond Race
Professor Pal Ahluwalia, University of South Australia
- 10.05 It's more hopeful to talk about 'our own stuff' than to talk about racism
Professor Linda Tuhiwai Smith, University of Waikato University New Zealand
- 10.50 Morning tea
- 11.20 What's Anger Got to Do With It? A Post-Indignation Pedagogy for Communities in Conflict
Assistant Professor Michalinos Zembylas, Open University of Cyprus
- 12.05 Globalization as the "New" Colonization: Indigenizing Resistance
Associate Professor Sandy Grande, Connecticut College
- 12.50 Lunch
- 1.40 Fabricating 'Pacific Islander': the pedagogy of expropriation, return and resistance and other lesson from a 'Multicultural Day'
Professor Deborah Youdell, University of London.
- 2.25 Futuring Whiteness in Education: Between Reconstruction and Abolition
Associate Professor Zeus Leonardo, University of California, Berkley
- 3.10 The Modern Seduction Of Race: Whither Social Constructionism?
Professor Crain Soudien, University of Cape Town

See <http://www.unisa.edu.au/hawkeinstitute/cslplc/AntiRacism.asp> for more details of abstracts, speakers and registration details.