

Luke Grzeskowiak

Bachelor of Pharmacy, student

With all the study options out there, it's no surprise that some Year 12 students find it difficult to know which uni program to apply for. However, for fourth-year student, Luke Grzeskowiak, the decision to study Pharmacy at UniSA was an easy one.

'I really wanted to do something that helped people,' says Luke. 'I saw Pharmacy as a chance to make a direct impact on people's health and UniSA was the only uni in the state to offer this program.'

During his studies, Luke has undertaken clinical placements in both community and hospital pharmacies. As well as securing part-time employment, he has found a range of benefits in spending time in real-world settings.

'Clinical placements allow you to apply theoretical knowledge in a practical way,' he says. 'It's also a great networking opportunity - you develop contacts and that provides you with a better opportunity for finding employment in those areas.'

According to Luke, another highlight of studying at UniSA has been the chance to learn from lecturers and tutors who have extensive experience in the field.

'The best thing about UniSA's teaching staff is that many of them have worked or are working in a pharmacy setting,' says Luke. 'You know that what they're teaching you is totally relevant to what you'll need to know.'

At this stage Luke hopes to work in a hospital or community pharmacy, but may also pursue postgraduate study to expand his knowledge.

'In my current role, I'm always learning new things and developing positive relationships with customers,' he says. 'A Masters degree would also give me an edge in the future.'
