Social Inclusion for New and Emerging Communities

Introduction

This conference will build on the 2006 Conference, When Do I Stop Being a Refugee?, and will seek to address the key challenges identified by the Federal Government in the Australian Social Inclusion Agenda 2007, with a particular focus on new and emerging communities, by exploring the following:

- ◆ Defining 'community' and expanding our understanding of a national identity that fosters and supports social inclusion.
- ◆ Engaging diversity in making changes so that all Australians, regardless of where they live or who they are, can participate in the social and economic life of the nation.
- ◆ Developing strategies for ensuring that people do not fall through the safety net.
- ◆ Developing tools for measuring positive change so that we know we are making a tangible difference to people facing entrenched disadvantage.

Community leaders, service agencies, politicians, academics, researchers and government representatives will come together to participate in responding to the challenge of the community sector having to play a critical role in delivering an Australian social inclusion agenda. ### Conference Themes

Current good practice, as well as ideas for shaping the way forward, will be highlighted through presentations covering the following key topics:

Regeneration through capacity building towards greater inclusivity

- ◆ The community perspective: What does social inclusion mean for new and emerging communities including youth, women and families?
- ◆ What does meaningful participation look like?

Where do we go with what we know in achieving meaningful and sustainable social inclusion?

- ◆ Challenges for policy makers, service planners and the community sector.
- ◆ Achieving universal, connected services.
- ◆ Creating local partnerships to deliver targeted and tailored interventions which address localised systemic disadvantage.

The above major themes will include developing strategies for advancing social inclusion through outcomes in:

- ◆ Housing
- ◆ Education, Employment and Training
- ◆ Health
- ◆ Social, Cultural and Recreational Participation
- ◆ Community Empowerment

Conference Official Opening

Mr Hieu Van Le, Lieutenant Governor of South Australia and Chairman of the South Australian Multicultural and Ethnic Affairs Commission

Speakers confirmed to date

Mr Tom Calma is the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Commissioner and Acting Race Discrimination Commissioner of the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission. He is an Aboriginal elder from the Kungarakan tribal group and a member of the Iwaidja tribal group whose traditional lands are south west of Darwin and on the Coburg Peninsula in Northern Territory, respectively. He has been involved in Indigenous affairs at a local, community, state, national and international level and worked in the public sector for over 30 years. Until his appointment as Commissioner, Mr Calma managed the Community Development and Education Branch at Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Services (ATSIS) where he worked with remote Indigenous communities to implement community-based and driven empowerment and participation programs. In 2003, he was Senior Adviser Indigenous Affairs to the Minister of Immigration, Multicultural and Indigenous Affairs. From 1995-2002, he worked as a senior Australian diplomat in India and Vietnam representing Australia's interests in education and training. Mr Calma was a White Ribbon Day Ambassador for 2005, 2006 and 2007 and was awarded the prestigious Number One position in the Indigenous category for the Bulletin magazine's Power 100 for 2007. The Power 100 selects the 100 most powerful people in Australia.

Professor Graeme Hugo is Federation Fellow, Professor of the Department of Geographical and Environmental Studies and Director of the National Centre for Social Applications of Geographic Information Systems at the University of Adelaide. His research interests are in population issues in Australia and South East Asia, especially migration. He is the author of over two hundred books, articles in scholarly journals and chapters in books, as well as a large number of conference papers and reports. In 2002 he secured an ARC Federation Fellowship over five years for his research project, "The new paradigm of international migration to and from Australia: dimensions, causes and implications.
