People trafficking and slavery is real. Trafficking affects every continent and most countries. It happens today, even in Australia. Women, children and men are trafficked within their own countries and across international borders.

Every year over 600,000 - 800,000 people are trafficked across national borders. From the chocolate slaves to child labourers to the sex trade, human trafficking is the third largest source of income and the fastest growing form of organised crime, exceeded only by arms and drugs trafficking. People are trafficked into prostitution, forced labour, military service, domestic service, forced illegal adoption and forced marriage.

Jane Doyle, Seven News Presenter, will host this event. Jane has presented Seven News, South Australia's number one rating television news service, since 1989. Jane has won numerous Clear Speech Awards as the State's Best Television News Reader and supports a range of community organisations as an Ambassador or Patron.

People trafficking generates $31 billion annually and enslaves 27 million people around the globe.

A man that Bono has called a heroic character. Award-winning journalist David Batstone, after journeying across 5 continents to investigate the mechanisms of the global trade, profiles the new generation of abolitionists who are leading the struggle to end this appalling epidemic.

David Batstone will inspire you to action with stories of great women abolitionists, heroes he has met in the quest to end people trafficking and slavery. Find out more about the simple actions you can take to be part of the global movement that says "Don't Trade Lives".
