

Ronni Kahn with Jessica Chapnik Kahn

A Repurposed Life

October 2020

Far more than a memoir with a message, A Repurposed Life will explore how the dynamic founder of food rescue movement OzHarvest, Ronni Kahn, found her purpose, made change happen, and how you can do the same. A family affair, Ronni's daughter-in-law Jessica Chapnik Kahn is writing the book with Ronni.

'During the past 15 years I have learnt so much about myself and the world through starting and growing OzHarvest. I hope this book helps others discover the deep sense of meaning that is available to us when we tap into the joy of living a life of service,' Kahn said. 'I'm thrilled to be working with Murdoch Books to bring my journey to the broader public.'

This exciting acquisition from publisher Jane Morrow will sit within Murdoch Books' Conversation Starters category, and appeal to readers who are drawn to compelling personal stories and the themes of community, generosity, and finding life-purpose. 'Ronni lights up the room wherever she goes and challenges us all to look outward rather than inward. This book is going to be a unique blend of raw memoir and inspiration,' Morrow said.

Ronni and Jessica are based in Sydney.
